Local Host Updates

- Around 700 registrations in total now including walk-in. There are 274 badges remain uncollected.
- According to statistics, around 200+ people attending sessions at each specific time which shows that many of the people are outside the sessions to network.
- Some of the topics receive lots of attention and are too crowded with not enough spaces for chairs. e.g. Merger 2 with 75 participants including speakers
- Closing Social registration is full now.
- Quite a number of leftover food due to the over preparation of number of 700 headcount.

Discussions:

- Food Management
  - Chung suggested that the secretariat will further follow up to learn from the statistics and reference to other similar conferences such as ICANN and IGF to prepare better for future conferences.
  - Wu added that Taipei 2016 meeting faced the same challenges due to the nature of free conference. Wu showed appreciation on the wonderful job of the 2017 local host.
  - Cadena enquired if something there is problem with the online system since there is a large discrepancy of the on-site numbers. Low responded that the large discrepancy could be due to the local registrations.
  - Cadena suggested that confirmation mechanisms could be developed to allow better estimation of actual turn-up rate.
- Conference Registration Fee
  - Ang suggested to publish the no-show list as punishment.
  - Wu shared that TWIGF had considered similar ideas but discarded at the end since the community hopes to remain open and inclusive.
  - Chung responded that it would be difficult to keep that as a blacklist and against the approach of punishment.
  - Huang echoed that Taiwan had similar situations and suggested to consider impose a minimum charge to participants.
  - Cadena and Langdon-Orr clarified that the NRIs under the UN framework cannot charge any conference fee.
  - Langdon-Orr suggested that lunch could be offered at cost recovering price as an option. Secretariat echoed that if cost is an issue, MSG could consider not to provide lunch for participants but keep the registration free of charge and double confirm participation with registered people before conference.

That will also allow more time for preparation of topics considering that many fellows are newcomers who are feeling lost on the first day of the conference.
  - Semlani also suggested to organize daily debriefing session among buddy groups to prepare for the town hall sessions so as to enhance and facilitate the participation of fellows. Cadena echoed the suggestion but raised the concern on the tight agenda.

- Fellows Selection
  - Chendi congratulated the secretariat for the success in bringing in the 45 fellows and mentioned that it is important to manage the budget in order to keep including new faces during fellows selection while maintaining a balance at supporting speakers.
  - Chendi also suggested that we should keep track of the fellows post-conference and updates on their Internet governance engagement which would be beneficial for us.
  - Chung echoed on the fellows tracking suggestion and proposed that the Secretariat to create an alumni network of the fellows via mailing lists, facebook group or whatsapp group. Chendi agreed with the alumni network and suggested to create an Asia Pacific for all initiatives.

- Wu commented that some of the sessions lack interactions with the audiences and left only 5 minutes for Q&A.
- Wu suggested to limit the presenters with a maximum number of slides that can be used and set some rules on the time limits.
- Chung clarified that workshop organizers had to identify the format of their sessions.
- Soong suggested the Program Committee could review the process for 2018 and yet noting that the implementation of Wu's suggestion would be difficult.
